

Mark Mattson

Read at Memorial service November 5th, 2016 written by Thomas Kuklinski

To me, Mark was the type of man that I seem to have known forever. I don't know exactly when I met Mark but it was sometimes in the 1980s. It was through our common bond of understanding, using, playing, developing and wondering about computers that brought us together. More importantly than the actual computer devices itself was the people that wanted to know about them. Mark wanted to share his knowledge with others. Mark always had a desire to help people.

Mark was unselfish. He volunteered often. Many times Mark did the "heavy lifting" for CUE. He loved manning the booth at NUAGE computer fests. Or at the Millcreek mall. When that was not enough he organized the membership for CUE. And Mark would be right at the door to welcome members to the meetings.

Mark loved to help members. He was the voice when it came to hardware or software problems. CUE members depended on Mark.

When all this was not enough Mark stepped in to create award winning newsletters. He made sure these newsletters got out on time and were professional looking.

Even when Mark became ill, he still was actively doing work for CUE.

May he Rest In Peace in Computer heaven. Perhaps God needed a great technician.